KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | JANUARY 17, 2020

2020 LEGISLATURE OPENS

The 2020 Legislature had a full agenda as both chambers gaveled into session on Monday afternoon. The session opened slowly with organizational matters, the State of the State Address by Gov. Laura Kelly, and introduction of pre-filed bills and interim proposals. On Thursday, the House Appropriations Committee and Senate Ways and Means Committee had a joint meeting as the Governor's budget was unveiled. The state's improving financial picture will make funding new programs like Medicaid expansion an option along with the potential of some tax cuts.

The Medicaid expansion compromise agreement between Gov. Kelly and Senate Majority Leader Sen. Jim Denning will improve chances for passage in the Senate despite concerns and opposition by some Republican Senators. House Republican leaders are still opposed and likely to try blocking consideration on the House floor despite support for expansion by a majority of House members. The Senate Public Health and Welfare Committee is holding hearings on SB 252 (see our reference to SB 252 and 246 below). Proponents will be heard on Jan. 23-24, and opponents will be heard on Jan. 27-28.

STATE OF THE STATE ADDRESS

On Wednesday, Jan. 14, Gov. Kelly delivered her second State of the State address. Her areas of emphasis included funding education and the need to expand Medicaid. She wants Kansas to become the 37th state to do so. Among other areas highlighted were the need to address a comprehensive transportation plan, fiscal stability, modest tax cuts in specific areas, and a continued need to improve the social safety net. Gov. Kelly noted this is the first time in Kansas history that women have headed all three branches of government, referring to Senate President Susan Wagle and Chief Justice Marla Luckert. She noted the improving Kansas economy and the lowest unemployment rate in 40 years.

The Republican response by House Speaker Ron Ryckman, R-Olathe, stressed financial restraint and frustration with court mandates that undermine the stability of the state budget. Ryckman urged civil discourse while avoiding overspending and election-year posturing. Senate President Susan Wagle said the state shouldn't extend healthcare under Medicaid to able-bodied adults without children while the state continued to have people with disabilities on the waiting list for services. President Wagle acknowledged that Medicaid expansion would likely pass the Senate but indicated a desire to see amendments.
