KANSAS LEGISLATIVE INSIGHTS NEWSLETTER | MARCH 31, 2023

WEEK 12 FLOOR DEBATE

After three days of floor debate, the March 29 deadline to consider non-exempt bills from the other chamber passed with major legislation approved. In addition, two key measures essential for final adjournment cleared the House and are headed to conference committee. The House Taxation Committee compromise tax plan described in our last issue (5.25% flat tax, lower corporate rate, the state food sales tax eliminated July 1, Social Security cliff to $100,00, increased standard deductions, increased property tax exemption, and cutting taxes on banks) was passed on the House floor with bipartisan support 94-30. The House also approved its version of the budget, which will go into conference committee.

Wednesday, emotional moments were described on the Senate floor. Three female Senators described heartbreaking stories of sexual abuse of children and minors. S. Sub for HB 2127 would permit a criminal prosecution for childhood sexual abuse to commence at any time. It also extends the time to file a civil action for recovery of damages resulting from childhood sexual abuse to no more than 13 years after the date the victim turns 18 years of age or three years after conviction for abuse. The measure passed 40-0.

Why is March 19, 2024, an important date to mark on your calendar? It marks the potential return of a Presidential Preference Primary Election in Kansas. It would be state-funded, with a $5 million price tag. Unaffiliated voters would be allowed to declare a party affiliation on Election Day. This week, the House voted 76-48 to end the three-day grace period for advance ballots to arrive at election offices. It passed the Senate 23-17. The measure could be vetoed by the governor.

Both chambers experienced emotional debate on the Born Alive Infants Protection Act, requiring physicians to provide high-quality care for an infant born alive after a failed abortion. The Senate vote was 31-9 and the House vote was 88-34.

The age to purchase cigarettes and smoking tobacco products will now be 21 years of age. The bill is headed to the Governor's desk. The SB 49 compromise on light-mitigation technology was approved 118-6 in the House. It is headed to Gov. Kelly's desk.

The Kansas House approved a bill expanding the work and job training requirements for older Kansans to qualify for food assistance. The measure requires those between 50-59 to work at least 30 hours or participate in training.

The Kansas Senate voted 27-13 to limit trains to 8,500 feet in length despite the opposition of the railroad industry. The bill was promoted as a safety measure, while the industry points out it will be more costly to ship products. Recent train derailments and rail safety were potentially an underlying factor. The bill will now go to conference committee.

The Senate was one vote shy (26-14) of passing a constitutional amendment limiting property value growth to 3% annually. The measure required a two-thirds vote for a passage. The Senate approved a bill requiring the State Board of Education to establish curriculum guidelines for firearm safety education programs that include the NRA's Eddie Eagle GunSafe program as an option. The Senate vote was 31-8. The House vote was 78-43. Gov. Kelly has previously vetoed a similar bill.

The Senate narrowly approved 22-18 SB 315, allowing an exemption for vaccines required by schools and child-care centers based on sincerely held religious beliefs without question. The bill also eliminates a state law allowing universities and colleges to require students living in campus housing to be vaccinated for meningitis. The Senate voted 24-16 to approve SB 314, prohibiting the Secretary of Health and Environment from requiring a COVID-19 vaccination to attend a child-care facility or school.

Compromise bills on the powers of the Governmental Ethics Commission and lowering electric rates passed in both chambers. The Parental Bill of Rights passed the Senate 23-17 and is headed to conference committee. The House voted 83-41 to approve the Women's Bill of Rights, establishing that an individual's sex means the individual's biological sex at birth. The vote was 83-41. The Senate passed it earlier 26-11.

NEXT WEEK

Legislators return on Monday and conference committees will meet to negotiate differences on bills between the chambers. Conference Committees are composed of three members from each chamber. Typically, the sides are represented by the Chair, Vice Chair and Ranking Minority Member of the committees who heard the bill. April 6 is first adjournment. The veto session starts in late April.
